

Stop Genocide in Darfur

You Have the Power to Protect

Government officials who remained silent during the Rwandan genocide often claim that if Americans had clamored for more government action, the U.S. would have had to work with the UN to intervene, and could have saved hundreds of thousands of lives.

Today, we have a unique power to protect the people of Darfur, Sudan.

CAMPAIGN TO STOP GENOCIDE IN DARFUR

Over 400,000 people have lost their lives in Darfur since the genocide began. More than 2.5 million people have been displaced, their livelihoods and villages destroyed by government forces and their proxy militias, and many thousands of women and girls have been raped by these forces. Recent reports confirm that the government-sponsored violence continues in Darfur, and that the security situation is deteriorating. The humanitarian crisis that forms part of the genocide is escalating, as the government of Sudan continues to obstruct humanitarian operations, creating famine conditions for millions of vulnerable people.

Africa Action is engaged in advocacy and activism to stop the genocide in Darfur, Sudan. Although the U.S. government has acknowledged this genocide, it has failed to take the necessary action to protect the people of Darfur. Africa Action's Campaign to Stop Genocide in Darfur is calling on the U.S. to seek a UN resolution authorizing a multinational intervention force to support the African Union and protect the people of Darfur.
